NEW JERSEY RESIDENTIAL BUILDING PERMITS

Historical Summary 1990-1999

Introduction:

The following report contains summarized annual building permits data for all New Jersey municipalities for the years 1990-1999. The data represent the number of units authorized for construction as reported by municipal construction officials in a monthly survey program conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

The report offers two items of information per year for each municipality:

- | | | |
|--------|---|--|
| Total | = | Total number of housing units authorized by building permit. Unit counts are different than the number of structures in all cases other than single-family homes. Authorization of a two-family home would be shown as two units, for example, and a single structure containing 10 apartment units would add 10 to the total. |
| Single | = | Single family units. The difference for any year between the number shown in "Total" and those in "Single" would be units authorized in structures other than single family homes, i.e., 2-4 family homes, apartments in buildings with five-or-more units and units of any types authorized in public housing, which are reported and tallied separately in the survey program. |

The Data:

Building permit statistics represent authorization to build, not housing starts or occupancies. In many cases authorized construction is for one reason or another long delayed or never completed. Data in this report are not adjusted to account for any such non-completion. They represent units approved for construction, regardless of the eventual disposition of the projects.

Building Permits as a Measure of Change in Housing Stock:

Net Changes in housing units implied from building permits reports may approximate actual housing stock changes during the 1990's in many of the state's municipalities. They will however, be rarely in precise agreement with the changes as measured by the difference between the counts from the 1990 and 2000 decennial Censuses of Housing. The reasons for this lack of agreement include:

- The previously mentioned cases of units authorized for construction but never build.
- Incomplete or inaccurate reporting by municipal construction officials.
- Units gained or lost through conversion. This type of activity, which was not covered by the survey program, could include the conversion of a one-family home to a two-family structure, the change of property from residential to commercial use or other modifications.
- Placement of mobile homes, which frequently does not require a building permit.
- Residential units created without the knowledge of municipal officials.
- Abandoned housing units, not included in the census count, for which no demolition permit has yet been issued.
- Adjustments needed to reconcile completion dates of authorized units with April 1, 1980 and April 1, 1990 census data.
- Possible errors in the census counts.
