Notice of Availability of Funds

Governor Phil Murphy State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2019 Budget - Operation Helping Hand

Take notice that, in compliance with N.J.S.A. 52:14-34.4, and the 42 U.S.C. §§ 241A, 247B et seq., the Department of Law and Public Safety (Department) announces the availability of the following non-competitive subawards for the SFY19 Operation Helping Hand (OHH) grant program funded by Governor Phil Murphy's Fiscal Year 2019 Budget.

Under SFY19 OHH, $2,100,000 in formula grant funding will be offered to the 21 counties to establish or expand programs like Bergen County's model OHH in which law enforcement officers play an active role in identifying individuals with substance use disorders and—together with community partners—serve as a point of entry for treatment and/or recovery support services. The OHH model may be adapted to meet each participating county's circumstances, but every participating county's program will involve coordination and collaboration between law enforcement officers, recovery specialists, and mental health professionals to connect individuals suffering from the disease of addiction with treatment and/or recovery support services.

Bergen County's model OHH began as a modern take on the "open air drug market sweep." Over five days, a team of law enforcement officers would arrest individuals buying heroin – or, in some cases, other narcotics – at known open air drug markets in Paterson—focusing on regular drug users with a higher risk of overdose. When the users are brought to the police station or prosecutor's office for processing on drug charges, recovery specialists and mental health professionals are waiting to connect them with treatment and/or recovery support services. The charges are not dropped if the user accepts help, but every effort is made to place him or her on the path to recovery. Users are told that if they successfully complete treatment, that information will be provided to the sentencing court for its consideration. Anyone interested in treatment is promptly connected with appropriate inpatient or outpatient programs. Although the operation lasts about one week, it requires advance planning and coordination among public and private partners, including law enforcement and community agencies. Reserving beds so that the individuals may be directed to treatment immediately is a key component of the program. Recovery specialists follow-up with individuals who do not immediately agree to treatment.

Counties may adapt the OHH model to meet their unique circumstances. For example, instead of arresting individuals who purchase drugs at a single open-air drug market, counties may identify multiple locations for surveillance during their operations, which may vary in length of time. Alternatively, counties may identify individuals at risk for drug overdoses using law enforcement data and other resources, and then send teams of law enforcement officers, recovery specialists, and other healthcare partners to meet with these individuals about recovery and treatment options – without making any arrest. Counties also may adapt the OHH model in a manner that expands on existing programs and/or resources, including but not limited to mobile addiction outreach vans and municipal court programs that offer municipal court defendants, who are not eligible for drug court, the chance to be connected to treatment or recovery services. However, all OHH programs will use law enforcement encounters as the point of entry for treatment and/or recovery support services.

Counties that already have participated in OHH are encouraged to increase the frequency of these operations, incorporate and improve on their existing model, and share data to reduce the number of overdose-related deaths. The base funding allocation for each County Prosecutor's office is $100,000. If not all County Prosecutors' offices participate, the remainder of the $2,100,000 in funding will be divided among participating County Prosecutors' offices using a formula determined by the New Jersey Coordinator of Addiction Responses and Enforcement Strategies ("NJ CARES").

The funding is for a 12-month period from September 1, 2019 through August 31, 2020.

Any county wishing to participate in the OHH program must notify NJ CARES, via e-mail at levyk@njdcj.org no later than July 1, 2019. NJ CARES will then provide application and award packages to each county via e-mail, no later than July 10, 2019. The application and award packages are due back to the NJ CARES by August 19, 2019. One copy of the application and award package must be submitted via e-mail to levyk@njdcj.org.

Funding is provided on a reimbursement basis only and is contingent upon subrecipient award package submissions, compliance with grant conditions and approved deliverables, and satisfactory performance of services. Allowable costs for the grant funds include but is not limited to: overtime or comp time for law enforcement officers engaging in OHH activities; hiring staff, patient navigators, and recovery specialists to coordinate the initiative, track the participants, provide transportation, and make follow-up calls to those individuals who do not want to participate at the onset of the program; necessary equipment, materials, and supplies, including food and beverages and pre-paid phones for individuals being connected to care and mobile van outfitting expenses for mobile van operations; transportation expenses; refreshments for participants engaged in outreach events; training; educational outreach efforts that promote the program; and purchasing harm reduction products, such as naloxone, for law enforcement purposes only during an operation. Additionally, subrecipients must comply with programmatic and fiscal reporting requirements for approval and/or reimbursement of costs incurred during the project period.

Please note that funding allocations and individual subaward amounts are subject to change. Subrecipients shall recognize and agree that both the initial provision of funding and the continuation of such funding under a grant agreement is expressly dependent upon the availability to the Department of funds appropriated by the State or Federal legislature from State and/or Federal revenue to such other funding sources as may be applicable. A failure of the Department to make any payment under a grant agreement or to observe and perform any condition on its part to be performed under a grant agreement as a result of the failure of the State or Federal legislature to appropriate funds shall not in any manner constitute a breach of a grant agreement by the Department or an event of default under a grant agreement because of the absence of available funding appropriations. In addition, future funding shall not be anticipated from the Department beyond the duration of the award period set forth in a grant agreement and in no event shall a grant agreement be construed as a commitment by the Department to expend funds beyond the termination date set forth in a grant agreement.
